Juvenile Protective Association breaks fundraising record!

The Juvenile Protective Association (JPA) 2013 Mission: Possible Signature Spring Benefit raised $415,000 in support of JPA's critical treatment and counseling services for traumatized children and disadvantaged families in crisis. JPA Board Member Mark Osmond served as the Chair for this year's event held on Friday, May 17th at the Four Seasons Hotel, Chicago. ABC 7 News Anchor and former JPA Board Member Linda Yu admirably served as Mistress of Ceremonies. This year's benefit, representing JPA's largest fundraising event of the year, provides important funding to help troubled families become whole again through the agency's expert therapists and high quality counseling and supportive services. A crowd of more than 370 guests attended this year's event, which will go on record as one of the most successful Benefits, in proceeds raised for JPA, to-date.

During this popular and highly visible annual event, JPA honored VNA Foundation with the second annual Jane Addams Community Partner Award. This award recognizes the vision and active engagement of JPA's founder, and 1931 Nobel Peace Prize winner, Jane Addams, and her willingness to move mountains on behalf of defenseless children in protecting their well-being and keeping them safe from harm's way.
